The banishment of steam presses from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing looks almost like a concession to the demagogues.

If the Ohio Democrats fail to capture the Legislature this year, the State will be without a Democratic United States Senator for the first time in eighteen years.

It does the friends of Gen. Fremont good to see him looking so well and hearty, as if he had the earnest of at least a quarter of a century of years before him yet.

GREENWICH is in earnest as regards the prohibition of the liquor traffic, and a promise that shows the liquor men that they mean business.

There would be no great lamentation among the respectable portion of the American people should Sullivan have to languish for a year in a dungeon cell, but it doesn't look much as if he would.

HADJE HASSEIN GHOLLY KHAN expects to leave Washington today for London, where he will join the Shah and ask his august but dirty master whether he ought not to be recalled, Good-by, Gholly!

A WRITER in Blackwood's Magazine figures that ancient Rome probably had 4,000,000 inhabitants. This is bad news for Chicago, which will have to swell a good deal more before it can rival ancient Rome in population.

The French Senate has passed the Panama Canal Relief Bill. To relieve the canal from the disadvantages and obstacles which stand in the way of its completion is a task that would almost have staggered the builders of the Egyptian pyramids.

The Philadelphia Inquirer, apropos of the result of the vote in Pennsylvania relative to prohibition, inquires, "how will this do for a short poem: Wet Yet?"

It is conclusive and gives a clear idea of the result in that State.

SECRETARY RUSK is introducing a good many new features in the Agricultural Department at Washington. An editorial division has been established, where documents will be summarized and sent to newspapers. This is likely to insure more newspaper attention to such documents.

This year the levy for the State government of California was within a few thousand dollars of $7,000,000, while that for New York only amounted to $9,039,303. This is a terribly poor financial showing for California, and tells a very plain story of the manner in which our legislators have got in their work on the public funds.

It is getting to be a pretty pass when a respectable citizen, who is out of funds, cannot walk from one place to another in this country, in search of work, without being arrested, as a vagrant and cast into jail. Yet, this seems to be the case today in Los Angeles county, where hungry deputy constables are constantly pulling up men and bringing them to the city for the sake of the fees. The Sheriff ought to see that these outrages on the taxpayers and on citizens are stopped.

A good many of the "summer resorts" of the East depend pretty largely for their patronage upon the butter, beefsteaks and coffee which they present to their guests, but who of California, in addition to all that, can add the finest climate, the purest air and the most magnificent views in the world. There is hardly a place within the coast counties that is not a good summer resort, and in addition, a good winter resort, too. Nature built things here on her most magnificent plan, and she will never try to accomplish anything better than she has done here.

THE OFFICE-SEEKING NUISANCE.

Reports of the large number of eager candidates who are hanging around Washington waiting for an appointment to some office, however small, but more especially to consularships, are frequently received from the capital, but are often attributed to the exaggerating tendencies of many news correspondents. From an interview in the New York Sun with Chauncey M. Depew, who had just returned from Washington, it would seem, however, that the situation has by no means been exaggerated. Mr. Depew said, in the course of the interview:

"There never was such a situation in the history of the world. There are 4000 applications for 150 consulates, and I believe that this proportion will be maintained, if not increased, through all the departments. The President, the members of the Cabinet, the heads of bureaus and the Representatives are overrun and the public business is almost at a standstill. The figures I have given will show how many must be disappointed. The whole country seems to think that Cleveland removed and replaced all the officeholders and that vacancies can be made everywhere. The fact is that he removed only about one-third of the placeholders."

The average American believes religiously that he is cut out by nature to reflect luster on the United States by representing the country abroad in a consular position, just as he also believes that he can run a newspaper or a hotel a little better than any one else. To obtain such a position men who are able to earn a good living will hang around Washington for months, or even years, gradually moving down—or rather up—from a second story in a first-class hotel to a fourth story in a third-class lodging-house, and even winding up, sometimes, in the police station or the gutter. Once this thirst for political preference—this belief that Uncle Sam owes him a living—has become firmly implanted in a man's mind, it is almost as difficult to eradicate as the thirst for liquor or opium, and when the average man receives a small office he is generally spoiled for future usefulness."

The chief evil of this state of affairs—the one which most nearly concerns the people at large—is not, however, in the disappointment or demoralization of a few thousand office-seekers, but, firstly, in the manner in which the time of the President and the secretaries is wasted by these applicants, thus crowding out business of importance to the country which demands attention; and, secondly, in the demoralizing effect upon the Nation as a whole of the transformation of the quadrennial election into a fight for plunder rather than principle. There is little doubt that a change in the system of appointments to office will be made before many years. Public opinion is already ripe for the change. Senators and Congressmen would certainly be pleased to be relieved from what has become to them, in many cases, an almost unbearable nuisance. The people at large care little about how appointments are made so long as good people are appointed. The only serious objection to the present system is that it would be the proprietors of the Washington hotels and boarding-houses, and even they might find, on looking over their accounts, that their losses on office-seekers who ran out of funds have gone far to counterbalance their profits on such guests."

CHICAGO AND THE ALIENS.

Chicago has not had a very pleasant experience with her alien population during the past few years, and a strong American sentiment has arisen in that city. It grew up during the Haymarket riots, and was given added strength by the Cronin case.

When the Cronin excitement was first on in Chicago, a move was made to deprive aliens of the right to serve the city in any capacity whatever. An ordinance to this effect was introduced in the City Council, and, though the attempt was made to laugh it down, it was passed, and after the first of this month no man not a citizen can be carried on the pay-rolls of the city. The ordinance was so worded as not to interfere with existing contracts, the result being that as yet hundreds of aliens and unaturalized Irishmen are still working on the city's streets. When the contracts on which they are employed run out, they will be discharged. During the session of the should not be given employment by the late Legislature, a bill was introduced in the Senate declaring that aliens State. It was understood that the bill was introduced at the request of Gov. Fisher. At any rate, it was given out that he was very favorable to it. There was a good deal of sentiment in the State at that time, because of the operations of Scully, the Irish landlord, who owns many thousands of acres of land in Illinois, and rack-rents his tenants, and the bill, as a consequence, met with very little opposition.

PUBLICATION OF LAND NOTICES.

The General Land Office at Washington has rendered a decision which will be of considerable interest to country newspapers and to persons who prove up on government land. The Templeton Times of San Luis Obispo county recently removed its printing office to Santa Margarita, a neighboring town, although the proprietors maintained an office in Templeton, and claimed that town as the place of publication. Thereupon, the publishers of the Paso Robles Leader protested against land notices appearing in the Times, and claimed that such notices should appear in their journal, as it was the only one printed in the vicinity. The case was laid before the Register of the Land Office in San Francisco, who submitted the matter to the General Land Office at Washington, receiving the following reply:

Referring to the Register's letter of the 21st inst., in relation to publication of final proof notices in the Templeton Times, you are informed that under a decision of the department, June 12, 1872, in the case of Gaudinville private land claims, it was held that a newspaper, though printed at San Francisco and published and distributed at Santa Barbara, sustained the character of a newspaper published at Santa Barbara, and according to this decision the Templeton Times is entitled to such notices, and would come to it under the law as the newspaper nearest the land.

THERE are to be no more special pension cases, and the pension attorneys, who are reported to have made arrangements by means of which they were to secure special favors, are met with an order that if they persist in their applications to have cases marked "special" they will be barred from practice before the department. The order which Secretary Noble has sent to Commissioner Tanner in the absence of the latter is that no cases are to be made special, except where the applicant is in great destitution or at the point of death, and then that cause for the advance must be presented in writing and be of such a character as would satisfy other worthy claimants whose claims precede it, should they know the facts, that such action is proper.

The following, from the Willows Journal, is as applicable to this section as to Northern California. We commend it to the attention of our farmers:

Enough straw is burned every year in California, or allowed to lie in stacks and rot where for years it will be an incubator on the ground, to add many a bushel of grain to our surplus many a pound to our meat supply were it only placed where it would do the most good as a fertilizer or judiciously fed to stock. As the great stock ranges disappear and their places are occupied by small and well-tilled farms, the scarcity of beef and mutton will make itself felt, and the time will come when a neglected, unsheltered and rotting stack of straw will be as infrequent here as in the older States of the East. The wasted straw on California farms, if properly utilized, would not enough to feed all the deserving poor within the borders of the State.

We had almost forgotten the Greenbackers, but a sign that they are not dead is found in the announcement that George D. Jones, chairman of the National Greenback party, has issued an invitation requesting all persons who desire to aid in the reorganization of the National Greenback party to meet in their respective States and Congressional districts on or before September 4th next and appoint one delegate and one alternate to attend the National Greenback Convention, called to meet at Cincinnati on September 12th.

A NUMBER of bishops have petitioned the Vatican to canonize Christopher Columbus on the anniversary of the discovery of America. Columbus is already considered a big gun on this side, and it is doubtful whether canonization will increase his caliber with us. However, we presume the idea should be considered as a compliment to America, so "St. Columbus" goes, as far as we are concerned.

The statement of Policeman Moore of Chicago that certain of his brother officers have been attempting to terrorize him because of his testimony at the Cronin inquest will strengthen the popular impression that when the whole story of the Cronin case is told there will be some very startling and ugly developments.

SUSPENDED.

Mounted Police Officer Vignes was yesterday suspended for running over the man Cornell on San Pedro street Wednesday morning, pending an investigation. The case is somewhat mixed up, but from all accounts Cornell is as much to blame for being run over as the officer was for doing it.

When the accident first happened Cornell stated that he was drunk and that it was his fault that he got hurt. Vignes had him taken to the police station, where his injuries were attended to, and he at once reported to Chief Burns what he had done and told him what Cornell had said to him, which, he says, was corroborated. Cornell stayed at the station all Wednesday night, and yesterday hung about the station for some time before making up his mind to prefer charges against the officer, which, however, he finally did. Afterward, when Vignes saw Cornell, he says he offered to withdraw the charges if he would give him $20. This Vignes declined to do, and here the matter rests. Cornell said that he was persuaded into making the charges he did. Police Commissioner Knox was present at the station while Cornell was being questioned in regard to the affair, which will be further looked into.

Breeding the Lady Bugs.

The Horticultural Commissioners have been busy several days establishing breeding grounds for the vedalia cardinals, the Australian lady bugs which destroy the cottony cushion scale, in the orchard of William Niles, on Washington street, near Main. The orange trees there are literally covered with scale, and five of these trees have been inclosed in tents, and some 7000 lady bugs introduced therein to propagate and multiply and replenish the earth. The commissioners will be prepared to furnish colonies of the valuable little insects for all who require them.

Mysterious Disappearance.

Some two or three weeks ago a man named Geisen, who said he owned a small farm in Antelope Valley, came to the Buckeye stables, on First street, where he left his team, saying that he would come for it in the evening and return home. This was the last seen of Geisen. His team is still at the stables, and nothing has been heard from him. Yesterday the city attorney notified Sheriff Aguirre of the disappearance, and that officer is now looking it up. It is not known whether Geisen had any money or not.

A SANGUINARY FIGHT.

Two Well-Known Business Men Settle Their Differences.

For some time past there has existed a bad feeling between a certain large clothing store on Spring street and an equally enterprising establishment in the same line which occupies premises on Main street. Feeling between the houses was so high that a fight to a finish, Marquis of Queensbury rules, was arranged. The White House relying on the well-known pugilistic abilities of one of the proprietors, whilst the Golden Eagle store found a champion in their head clerk. A quiet tip was out yesterday afternoon that a well-known sporting reporter, the end of Pico street was the chosen battle ground, and at 9:30 p.m. a Times reporter was on the scene of action. A select audience had gathered to witness the mill, and promptly to time the principal drew their chest protectors into the ring. The Spring-street representative was much shorter than his opponent, but weighed in ring costume at least forty pounds more. Billy Manning was chosen referee, and Joe Watkins timekeeper. The men having shaken hands, "Time" was called.

Round 1—Both men looked confident, an evening full of fight. Shortly danced round his man, and seeing an opening, rushed in, and was met with a stinger on the nose. Shortly fought his opponent to the ropes, and some hard give-and-take work was stopped by the referee.

Round 2—Shortly rushed in to polish off his lanky antagonist, who jabbed him twice on the mouth, and received in return a hard one in the stomach. Sharp give-and-take work, and "Time" was called.

Round 3—Both came smiling, and after sparring for wind, a mutual desire to finish the contest led each man to throw his arms wildly forward, shortly landing in the air, and his antagonist, who was the referee's head, threatened to knock them both out.

Round 4—Both were groggy, but the Golden Eagle store man rushed in and knocked him all over the ring, finally falling from his own exertions. This call of time saved him.

Round 5—Shortly was groggy but game, and after his opponent had led him a dance, he rushed in and knocked him all over the ring, finally falling from his own exertions. This call of time saved him.

Round 6—The Main-street pugilist came up with fire in his eye, and it was give and take for fully a minute, the lanky fighter having all the best of it. Shortly equalized matters with a hot right-hander in the neck.

Round 7—Shortly forced the fighting and inflicted considerable damage on his opponent's body, the round closing with the Golden Eagle store man on his feet, but very weak.

Round 8—Very little was done, both men reserving themselves for a final effort, which came in.

Round 9—When Shortly rushed right into his man, who was too weak to resist, he was knocked down, and left, both men finally clinching to prevent themselves dropping to the ground.

On coming up for the tenth round the Main-street man offered to make it a draw, but Shortly, declining the proposition, and the other man threw up the sponge. The fight was a hot one from the start, and though neither man was badly punished, it was a game and well fought, the contest of the men is taken into consideration, and no doubt the Golden Eagle store man won.

THE GRAY—The ministers drew another big house last night. This is by far the best minstrel company that ever visited Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES THEATRE—The Wyatt Opera Company drew the best house of the week last night. Lotus will be given for the last time Saturday night.

LYCEUM COMPANY—The sale of seats at the Grand Opera-house yesterday, for the week's engagement of Dan Frohman's Lyceum Theatre Company from New York city, was highly satisfactory. The engagement will be inaugurated Monday evening with Philothea, and will also be repeated on Thursday. The cast will be precisely the same as when seen here last year, so that there will be no danger of the enjoyment of the place being weakened by the most dangerous of all things, a change of the people playing.

SANTA MONICA.

Yesterday's Gleanings on the Beach—Town News.

SANTA MONICA, July 11.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] In the Arcadia tennis courts was witnessed a lively contest in the waning hours of Monday afternoon, the players being Miss Madie Vawter and F. McComas and Miss Laura Adams and Miss Conger of Pasadena. After a round of eight outs the Vawter-McComas team secured the honors. Miss Stanwood was umpire.

Col. J. A. Muir of the Southern Pacific has hearkened to the appeal of the Town Trustees and will at once issue orders to the engineers to discontinue the practice of whistling 15 minutes before the departure of trains. The Los Angeles and Pacific will do likewise.

Ocean Bluff is bound to be a popular resort now. The seats on the avenue on the bluff have been placed in position much to the delight of both residents and visitors.

The dance at the Arcadia last night was enjoyed by a large throng and the festivities were prolonged until past midnight, much to the satisfaction of all. Mr. J. W. Scott is determined to make his place popular, and the dances are doing much toward attaining the end desired.

Advices were received here today of the return of La Palma to San Pedro. She has been absent three weeks, having gone to San Francisco preparatory to the San Diego regatta. Eight boxes of silverware are trophies of the Dove's prowess.

The Rena Morelles closed a successful engagement here this evening. Mr. W. T. Spilman and E. E. Hall of the Los Angeles and Pacific were around today, having returned on the morning train from their San Francisco trip.

Col. H. G. Otis of THE TIMES and J. D. Lynch of the Herald were in town today.

Mr. Lou Grant, who built the California Southern, is at the Arcadia today. The Lou Grant's long list of visitors today shows, among others, the names of Miss Woods, Miss Halsted, Mrs. I. R. Halsted, J. G. Fuller, Mrs. L. A. Hawkins, Mrs. M. H. Mayo, Miss Mayo, Mrs. M. A. Parker, Mrs. W. J. Broderick, John Haynes and wife, William Uhl.

The wave-motor described in yesterday's letter should have been credited to L. S. Goldman. Henry Timken and Dr. Davy of San Diego are associated with the inventor, owning a half interest jointly.

The Police Outlets.

The attitude of Chief Burns and the Police Commissioners, and the Chief's plain talk at the meeting Wednesday afternoon, was generally discussed in police and official circles yesterday. It is not believed that the matter will be allowed to drop where it now is, but that there will be something more of it in the next few days. It was also rumored as among the probabilities that there would be a change in the Police Commission at the next meeting of the Council. The outlook is becoming interesting.

BALTIMORE, July 11.—[By the Associated Press.] The Sun's Charleston (W. Va.) special says: Last evening Frank Phillips, one of the Hatfield-McCoy gang, for whom there is a large reward offered in this State, was at Grundy, Va., and vicinity, handling a Winchester rifle and revolver, with the remark that he would "do" the people. He was un molested, and during his wild career struck William Keiser, an attorney, on the head with a revolver, dangerously wounding him. While he was punishing Keiser, a young man sprang and caught his arm, as he fired at Keiser, but Keiser was shot and killed. There is much excitement, but no arrests, and Phillips has gone to the mountains.

THE RAILWAYS.

Doings of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

CHICAGO, July 11.—A session of the Interstate Commerce Railway Association was held today. It was decided to allow all rail routes between the West and seaboard to meet any rates made by the rail routes.

The committee appointed to confer with the president of the Burlington and Northern Railway, declining the proposition, requested the lines interested in St. Paul and Minneapolis traffic to at once open negotiations through the northern division of the Western Freight Association with their eastern connections, with a view to making such joint tariffs and rates between all points reached by the Canadian and lake routes as shall meet any and all rates made by said Canadian and lake routes.

In consequence of the action of the Chicago and Alton in withdrawing from the association, the presidents of the other lines present declined to accept the committee to take such joint action as they might agree upon at any time in protecting their interests against the competition of the Alton. The association then adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

A BRUTAL AFFAIR.

Jackson Knocks Out Sailor Brown in Three Rounds.

CHICAGO, July 11.—[By the Associated Press.] A bloody slugfest took place in Chicago tonight without even the show of interference made by Mississippi in the Sullivan-Knox fight. The fighters were the negro, Felix Keys (colored) of Australia, and Sailor Brown. The former had agreed to "stop" the latter in six rounds. The men fought with two-ounce gloves, and Brown fought the fighting, but was repeatedly knocked down by his antagonist. Stubbornly he continued, but in the third round his condition became pitiable. He was bleeding profusely, and unable to raise his hands. The spectators cried out that he was being killed, and therefore stopped the fight, and awarded the victory to Jackson.

THE SIOUX COMMISSIONERS.

CHAMBERLAIN (S. Dak.), July 11.—The commissioners about three weeks ago, had signed, less than the number last year. Others desired to sign upon conditions to which the commission was powerless to agree. Lists were left with the agents, by whom signatures will be received. The expectation is that the requisite three-fourths will be received tomorrow. The commission next goes to the Cheyenne agency.

Executed by a Mob.

LAFAYETTE (La.), July 11.—A large body of men, 30 whites and 20 colored, rode into town this evening, broke open the jail and took therefrom Felix Keys (colored) who, in a jealous fit last Tuesday, near Carceno, murdered his wife, cutting her throat with a knife and then knocking her in the head with an ax. He was taken to the scene of his crime and executed by the mob.

A Gambler's Tragic End.

DENVER, July 11.—Ed Henderson, a gambler, had a jealous quarrel tonight with his mistress, Della Thompson, who is the keeper of a notorious house. ## Intimidated by Strikers.

PARIS, July 11.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] There has been another scene of disorder in the Chamber of Deputies today. Laguerre stigmatized the Government arrests in Angoulême as a trap laid for himself, and called the high court a parody of justice. He declined to come to order, and the President left the chamber and the galleries were cleared.

An hour later the sitting resumed, and Laguerre, still persisting in speaking, was excluded from the chamber. The Journal des Debates says that the committee of the high court recommends that Boulanger, Dillon and Laguerre be arraigned on a charge of conspiracy against the State.

PARIS, July 11.—The Senate has adopted the Panama Canal relief bill. It appended a clause to the measure, however, which necessitates the return of the bill to the Chamber of Deputies for adoption.

WHO IS CHIEF?

Rumor of Engineer Stoermer's Suspension.

A rather curious story was in circulation on the streets last night, and was generally talked about among the firemen. It was to the effect that Engineer Stoermer, who has been temporarily placed in the Main-street house with his engine while that machine was being repaired, has been suspended. As the story goes, Fire Commissioner Keefe came to the engine house Wednesday and told Stoermer to turn out, as there was a fire in a woodyard down the street. Stoermer did so, and, just as he got back, Chief Strohm came to the house and inquired by whose orders he had taken the engine out. Stoermer replied on Mr. Keefe's orders, whereupon the Chief suspended him for a month, saying that he was the chief of the department, and the only one authorized to give orders. Mr. Strohm could not be found last night to verify the story, but it is true there will probably be a lively time at the next meeting of the Fire Commissioners.

PEOPLE'S STORE.

FRIDAY IS OUR DAY FOR CLEANING HOUSE.

All Odds and Ends Will Have to Go—Antiquated vs. Progressive Merchants—The Real Value of Remnants.

PEOPLE'S STORE, LOS ANGELES, JULY 12, 1889.

OUR HOUSE-CLEANING DAY.

Friday is our remnant day. Our day to clear out all odds and ends; our day to clean out all unsalable stock; in fact, our house-cleaning day. All good merchants, like good housekeepers, must at stated intervals clean out the odds and ends that accumulate, and fire out the hindrances to good order and usefulness. Merchants of the antiquated school are slow to learn this truth. They pile up the old stock, nourish the old-style remnants, guard the odds and ends, until some poorly-posted customer comes along and gives them the full value for an article that is only worth half price. Progressive merchants of the new school know differently. They are aware that remnants are only worth 50 cents on the dollar. They know that they make good the loss. It keeps the stock clear and clean, and when inventory time comes the merchandise is worth 100 cents on the dollar. In order to do this successfully the merchant must have the nerve to use the knife unsparringly, cut the prices in two with a smiling countenance, ask the public to take away the bargains, and say the loss is ours—the gain yours. He on hand today to get an armful of remnants at a mere nothing.
